U.S. KFOR AND KPC CONDUCT BINAC MEDICAL CLINIC

CAMP BONDSTEEL, Kosovo -- The 2-63 Armor Battalion medical platoon, from Camp Magrath, conducted their third multi-ethnic free medical clinic in Binac on April 12.

A total of 104 residents from the Binac area received medical screenings and treatment from a team of medical professionals, including local medical professionals from the Vitina Health House, Klokot, and the Binac Health Clinic, where the daylong event was held.

This was the first clinic to feature the assistance of the Kosovo Protection Corps. Four members of the 6th Protection Brigade were on hand to observe how the clinic was organized.

"It was very well run," said Valdete Zuka, a member of KPC. "Next time, perhaps we can help the doctors, too."

Lt. Tyler Gence, a physician's assistant for 2-63, praised the work of Sister Jela Angelic, the nurse who runs the clinic at the Saint Doud Catholic Church in Binac. Angelic treats many of her patients for free or accepts donations to the clinic in exchange for her services.

"Most of the people around here are in excellent health. Angelic takes very good care of them," Gence said.
